To Whom It May Concern

Re: Reference for Louan Ourvouai

---

I'm pleased to provide this reference for Louan, who worked with us as Lead Game Developer over a contract engagement lasting five months on PALZ, a mobile virtual pet game built in Unity. I am Co-Director of Elevate Core, the studio behind PALZ, and worked alongside him closely throughout.

As lead developer, Louan was responsible for building the game's mini activities, implementing UI/UX, and integrating animations produced by our designer and animator. He also worked directly with our back end developer to implement multiple in game endpoints. Throughout the project he showed solid, practical command of Unity and consistently delivered work that integrated cleanly into the wider codebase.

Two qualities stood out. First, his collaboration: he worked smoothly across disciplines, with the designer, animator, and back end developer alike, communicated well, and was genuinely easy to work with. Second, and most notably, his creativity. Louan has a real talent for game design and was at his best generating fun, original gameplay concepts; several of the game's most engaging activities came from his ideas. Working within clearly defined objectives, he delivered reliably and productively.

Louan would be a strong addition to any team that values a creative, collaborative, and technically capable developer with a genuine instinct for fun gameplay. I'm happy to be contacted for any further detail.

Sincerely,

Martin Damour
